COAST GUARD
SAVES 496 ON
WRECKED SHIPRemoved Safely From Grounded Liner Near
Seward, Alaska

(By Associated Press)
KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Feb. 6.—Removal of all of the 496 persons from the wrecked liner Yukon, which broke in two in a vicious gale on the rocks of Johnstone bay, was reported early today by the Ketchikan Chronicle.

About 100 were landed on the nearby beach by breeches buoy, the Chronicle reported, and the rest are in Seward or aboard the various vessels which overcame the northland gale in tedious but successful rescue operations.

The report said the rescue ships were presumably taking all of the survivors to Seward, where 50 had previously been landed.

Breeches buoys will be rigged, the Coast Guard said, to transfer the survivors on the beach at the scene of the wreck to rescue vessels.

Huddle Around Bonfires

As the wind died and the sea began to calm, rescuers fought with power boats, life rafts and the breeches buoys, and last night Brig. Gen. Harry Johnson flew over the scene and reported the survivors on the beach were huddled around bonfires.

Apparently no lives were lost. The Coast Guard cutter Onondaga, which took off the first 48 women and children by power boat Monday night, reported to Kodiak that the number of rescued had reached 281.

The Yukon, which struck the rocks in Johnstone bay Sunday night after sailing from Seward, broke in two Monday night, the after part wallowing in the seas. Coast Guard reports said all passengers and crew were believed safe in the firmly grounded forward section. Three men were washed aboard when the liner broke, but a tug saved them.

Rush Medical Aid

The survivors were taken to Seward, where medicines and doctors and nurses were rushed by plane and train. All Seward opened its doors to the shivering shocked arrivals and the steamship Alaska was moving in from Kodiak to provide additional housing space.

Terse messages from the scene told of carrying terrified children down cargo nets from the fractured Yukon to the power boats bobbing in the 20-foot waves; and said "work is continuing by life raft" and breeches buoys rigged to the bow section of the dead ship.

Farmers Told Of Four-Point
Program For Future Benefit

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—A four-point, long-range program of greater production, conservation, better income, and better living was urged for Ohio farmers today.

Dr. J. I. Falconer, professor of rural economics and, told a panel discussion at the university's 34th annual Farm and Home week that the program might call for some changes in farm practices but would result in sounder agriculture in future years.

"First we must have a program of abundant food, not scarcity," he said in his prepared talk. "We must become a nation conscious so that we are giving people the best in food."

Natural Resources Pled

"Second, our agricultural program must maintain the land itself and build up our natural resources instead of destroying them."

"Third, we must be sure to give a reasonable income to the farmer. This may necessitate some shifting, producing less of certain crops and more of others like vegetables and dairy products, since security isn't always to be found in the status quo."

"Fourth, we probably will be justified in expanding the facilities for living in the country, providing more roads and electricity where they are needed, setting up better hospital and medical services, and working out recreation possibilities for farmers."

Dr. Falconer explained the latter point, saying that although 50 percent of the population was on farms at the time of the Civil war, it now stood at 18 percent because of the attractions of higher pay in cities.

"Some point to the fact that we are still able to produce an abundance of food and say that the returns to farmers are so low because of a surplus of manpower which must go to the cities," he said, "but perhaps we would be justified in making life more attractive on the farm."

The three-day meeting drew more than 2,000 Ohio farmers.

Boost Strength Of Local Patrol

Two new state highway patrolmen, both returned war veterans, have been assigned to the Salem sub-station on the Lisbon road, south of the city, bringing the force here to its highest total since the early days of the war.

Patrolmen Sylvester W. Lucas of Marion and Louis G. Lush, formerly of Akron, are the new officers. The force now includes, besides the new men, Corp. Edward Mallory, and Patrolmen L. L. Russell and C. P. Shambaugh.

Lucas, who recently returned from 15 months' overseas duty as a sergeant in the Army's military police division, entered the service three and a half years ago from his patrol station at Chagrin Falls.

He had served in the highway patrol nine and a half months prior to entering the army. He is married.

Patrolman Lush, now residing in Canfield, served in the army artillery in the European theater of operations for two years. He was in the service three years, entering while at the Steubenville patrol barracks.

He was a member of the patrol for two years before his army service. Patrolman Lush and his wife expect to make their home in Salem soon.

The addition of two more patrolmen is expected next month after students are graduated from a patrol school in Columbus.

CLEVELAND DAILY PAPERS RESUMED

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Feb. 6.—A news famine ended in Cleveland today with the resumption of the pressmen's strike that had prevented publication of the city's three daily newspapers for the past month.

Emmett O'Flanagan, president of the Cleveland Newspaper Printing Pressmen's union, said the dispute would be submitted to arbitration by a three-man board composed of one management representative, one union representative and one public member.

Pressmen quickly reported for work on the Plain Dealer and a 40-page edition hit the streets shortly after midnight. Large editions, summarizing strike-time news, were planned today by the two afternoon papers affected, the News and Press.

Non-striking employees worked during the dispute, reporters gathering and writing news in summary form.

Issues in the strike, which began Jan. 5, were union demands for a weekly pay increase of $14.64 for day workers and $15.64 for night. Publishers offered a $10.86 weekly boost over the present scale of $53 for day and night pressmen.

HOMMA ADMITS
DEATH MARCH
RESPONSIBILITYJap General Testifies He Gave Order For Bataan Ordeal

BY PAUL MASON
MANILA, Feb. 6.—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma admitted under cross examination at his war crimes trial today that he issued the order for the Bataan march of 70,000 American prisoners of war and added:

"I am morally responsible for anything that happened under my command."

Seventeen thousand Americans and Filipinos died on that march. Homma made the admission in replying to a series of questions by Lt. Col. Frank Meek, Caldwell, Ida., chief of the prosecution staff.

"You knew you had 70,000 prisoners of war at the fall of Bataan?" Meek asked.

"Yes," replied Homma.

Admits March Order

"You knew you had issued an order for them to march from Bataan to San Fernando?"

"Yes,"

"Did you inquire the physical condition of the prisoners of war?"

"I did not."

"Did you consider the conditions at (camp) O'Donnell your responsibility, as commander-in-chief?"

After a pause, Homma replied:

"I am morally responsible for anything that occurred under my command."

"Were deaths of O'Donnell reporter to you?"

"I heard a hundred a day were dying."

"Didn't you think that excessive?"

"Yes it was."

Homma then conceded "his moral responsibility" and reiterated it despite Meek's statement that he had not again asked "if you were morally responsible."

Explains Corridor Assault

Homma, charged with slaughtering American troops on Corregidor after Wainwright offered to surrender, explained he ordered artillery fire the night of May 6 because Wainwright insisted he could order only troops in the Manila bay area to lay down their arms. He said Wainwright explained he had relinquished command of other areas to Maj. Gen. William Sharp, but "I contended if he had given away his command he could give it back."

Answering charges of responsibility for the death of 67,000 Americans and Filipinos during 1942, Homma testified he never personally inspected prisoners of war camps.

"I thought conditions were improved. They were much better in July than in May and June. I thought so," he paused and smiled wryly—"that is, until I came here."

Presbytery Holds

Seventy ministers and elders from Presbyterial churches in Mahoning Presbytery attended a meeting Tuesday in the Salem Presbyterian church.

Most of the 43 churches in the Presbytery were represented.

Atty Paul Booth of Youngstown and Dr. Clair Stewart of Cleveland discussed the three-year restoration program planned by this denomination.

Dr. John Williams, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Wooster, talked on spiritualizing the everyday member for the purpose of developing a stronger leadership.

Four summer conferences for Junior High school students will be held at Wooster and two conferences are scheduled for Camp Dyne.

Rev. Nicholas Varkoni, new pastor of the Niles Hungarian Presbyterian church, was accepted as a member.

LISBON, Feb. 6.—The trial of Olive May Long on charges of first degree murder in connection with the death of her 16-month-old daughter, adjourned early Tuesday when the original venire of 75 prospective jurors was exhausted and the case was continued until today when a new list of prospective jurors reported in the court.

Eleven jurors remained in the box at the close of court Tuesday, after three peremptory challenges by defense counsel had excused three of the tentative jurors, and a similar challenge by the state had removed another from the tentative panel, seated up to the noon hour.

STRIKE CURB
BILL TO PASSFoes Concede Defeat
As House Refuses
To Modify It

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Most opponents of the tough strike control bill of Rep. Case (R-Sd) threw in the sponge today, conceding that the house will approve it almost in its present form.

They expressed this view after being defeated overwhelmingly in a series of test votes on the far-reaching measure yesterday.

Several declared they would continue their last ditch efforts to modify the legislation, and they showered the speaker's desk with 20 suggested amendments.

The Case bill would set up a national mediation board with power to step into major labor disputes and forbid strikes or lockouts for 30 days. It also would permit wide use of court injunctions against either labor or management; outlaw violence in picketing; ban boycotts and provide for civil suits against either side breaking a contract.

Those backing Case's proposal were spurred yesterday by an assertion from Rep. Pace (D-Ga.) that the nation's farmers might go on strike if congress didn't pass stiff legislation to regulate labor controversies.

Opponents of the measure said it would take away labor's rights and promote industrial discord. They added that it was so stringent that neither the senate nor President Truman would accept it.

Pauley Nomination
May Be Withdrawn

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The battle over Edwin W. Pauley's appointment as undersecretary of the navy went into a temporary lull today amid indications that some administration leaders wanted the nomination withdrawn.

Pauley had been scheduled to bring before the senate naval committee this morning a record of political contributions made by oil men while he was Democratic national treasurer.

But Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) called off the session after conferring last night with Pauley.

Senator Tobey (R-N.H.), leading the fight against the nominee, said his next witness would not be available until Thursday.

BRITISH CABINET
REJECTS UNO PLAN

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—The British cabinet was reliably reported today to have rejected in its present form a proposal for ending the United Nations crisis over Greece and to have authorized Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to try for a further compromise.

The cabinet's reported decision today and a possible contest on the part of the five major power members of the UNO Security Council on the British-Russian dispute and left the way open for the pending compromise formula to be approved provided it could be modified in a manner acceptable to Bevin.

FILING DEADLINE
FAILS TO BRING
CANDIDATE RUSH

Two contests on the Republican ticket and a possible contest on the Democratic ticket in the May 7 primary elections loomed today as the deadline neared for filing candidacies with the Columbiana county board of elections.

All declarations must be on file with the board by 8:30 tonight to entitle a candidate to be listed on the party primary ballots for the May 7 nominations.

A contest for the one GOP commissioner nomination was assured today with filings recorded for incumbent John E. Smith, of St. Clair township and John G. Hill, of East Liverpool. Hill is an East Liverpool councilman-at-large.

Hunston Opposes Kerr

A second Republican contest is assured for the state representative nomination as incumbent John McBane Kerr of Yellow Creek township is opposed by Mayor Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine.

The balance of GOP filings includes Judge Joel H. Sharp for common pleas judge, unopposed, and County Auditor I. J. Vorndran as candidate for re-nomination, unopposed.

On the Democratic ledger so far is Glenn B. Roberts of East Liverpool as a candidate for nomination for the office of commissioner. He is unopposed to date, but it was expected that Frank M. Fisher of Calcutta may file for that office before the deadline.

Atty Louis Tobin of East Liverpool has also indicated that he may file today for Democratic nomination for state representative.

Ross Fisher, a former county auditor, may file today for the Democratic nomination to oppose Vorndran on the GOP slate next fall, it is reported.

China, Russia Open
Concessions Talks

CHUNGKING, Feb. 6.—Chiang Kai-Shek told a press conference today that "informal" discussions looking toward economic concessions to Russia by China are taking place.

The generalissimo also again hinted he might retire from active political life after a constitutional democracy is established.

Constitutional revisions are to be presented to the national assembly May 5.

Chiang's acknowledgement Russia was seeking economic concessions was to foreign correspondents, who asked if discussions looking to concessions beyond published terms of the Sino-Soviet treaty were in progress.

His statement followed renewal of rumors that Russia is demanding joint ownership and control of mining and other enterprises in Manchuria. These rumors were sharpened by the return to Chungking of Chiang Kai-Shek, special commissioner for economic affairs discussions.

New Garden Community

DIFFERENCES
CAUSE DELAY
IN PROGRAMPresident Truman Schedules News Conference
Tomorrow

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Top-level administration advisers strove today to iron out last-minute differences over details of a new government wage-price policy aimed at ending the steel strike—as well as most other major labor disputes.

One high official said a White House announcement of the formula might come today. Another reported that disagreements had developed late yesterday which could force further delay.

Both agreed the government's position on steel price increases—key to setting the walkout of 750,000 CIO Steelworkers—would be stated either simultaneously with announcement of the wage-price policy revision, or immediately afterwards.

Still Not Clear

What disagreements had developed remained unclear. Reportedly, they involved OPA Administrator Chester Bowles and Reconversion Director John Snyder, at odds on the price question for some time.

President Truman scheduled a news conference at 3:30 a. m. tomorrow, but there was no indication from the White House when he might announce a possible new wage-price program.

Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, told his own news conference that he did not know of any price statement in sight for today.

Bowles had been scheduled to testify on wage-price policy before the house banking committee tomorrow but word came from the committee that his appearance had been postponed until Monday.

Lending weight to belief here that a major break is due in the strike situation, CIO President Philip Murray summoned a strategy conference tomorrow between leaders of the CIO's "big three" unions—automobile, electrical and steel workers.

Unions Stick Together

These together represent 1,125,000 striking workers and have adopted a "stick together" policy in considering wage settlements. Murray insisted last night there was "nothing significant" in Thursday's meeting.

An official close to the government policy makers said the new wage-price statement would include relaxation of the present regulation which prohibited management from seeking price relief in less than six months after making voluntary wage increase.

One top level adviser asserted the provisions would be "broad enough to cover the electrical workers and other reconversion wage disputes."

The government's "last word" on steel prices has been generally reported as around $4 a ton. The steel industry has asserted that an increase "greatly in excess" of $6.25 a ton would be necessary to put in effect the 18 1/2 cents hourly wage increase proposed for steel workers by President Truman.

Echoes of the three-week old steel wage deadlock were heard yesterday in an announcement by John Green, president of the CIO shipbuilding workers, of a possible strike vote within his organization. The steel industry has a heavy stake in the nation's shipyards.

A third area of heavy precipitation was in the Pacific Northwest.

The only sections with fair weather were in the southwest, some parts of the midwest, and parts of Florida.

CITY COUNCIL
ADOPTS RATESTax Figures Show Esti-

1946 Operations

City council last night passed a resolution accepting amounts and rates of taxation, established by the county budget commission for 1946.

The rates affecting Salem city municipal operations is 3.50 mills inside the 10 mill limitation and 1.50 outside the limitation. It is established that these rates will raise $65,200 inside the limitation and $27,900 outside.

This is to provide the general fund with $65,000.

The bond retirement fund was allocated a rate of .10 mills inside and one mill outside. This is expected to yield $1,800 and $18,600, respectively.

The pension fund is expected to receive $7,400 from a .40 mill-rate inside the 10 mill limit.

Councilman Fred Blevins presented a complaint from a property owner on Arch ave, regarding water drainage on a property near the intersection of Newgarden st. It was referred to the sewer committee and the engineer.

A transfer ordinance to allocate $843.17 from the general fund to the fire department fund was enacted to provide funds for the purchase of Office of Civilian Defense equipment now in the possession of the Salem department.

A request for the paving of Water st. between the Memorial building and the Public library, was read to council. Joe M. Kelley, Memorial building manager, the Kiwanis club, Rotary club and the board of trustees of the library, all filed letters requesting action on the matter.

Lukewarm Welcome For UNO

Distance apparently has been lending enchantment to UNO. Residents of the area chosen by its site committee aren't putting much warmth into their welcome.

They can't be blamed. They had not sought to bring the United Nations to their exclusive neighborhood. Populated largely by New York City commuters, the property was not for sale.

It was chosen because it happened to lie where the UNO site committee thought the permanent buildings of the United Nations should be located. The question thus is put squarely up to the property holders.

If they complain enough, UNO will be located somewhere else. Or, recognizing the symbolic importance of giving as warm a welcome to the project in actuality as they gave it when it was a theory, they can make the first of the many sacrifices that must be made to concentrate men's dream of international cooperation and security. It would be a stirring gesture at a time when some stirring gestures of faith in UNO are desperately needed.

Blessed Are The Peacemakers

Tart exchanges between Foreign Vice Commissar Vishinsky and Foreign Secretary Bevin in the UNO assembly at London are calling attention to a role that the United States has played throughout the efforts of the Big Three to find a common ground of agreement.

Franklin D. Roosevelt stood between Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill at Tehran and Yalta, according to what is known of those conferences. At Potsdam, it is said, President Truman found himself between Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee, backed by Mr. Bevin.

While relatively little is known of the meeting of foreign ministers late last year, it, too, suggests that Secretary of State Byrnes found himself somewhere between the Russians and the British. Their areas of conflict in Europe are clearly defined. They are at odds over the Balkans, principally, the Middle East and, less directly, the countries in Britain's front yard—the Low countries and France. Matters that seem to the United States to be objective become the stuff of violent quarrels between Britain and Russia. When Americans object to this, they are not blessed as peacemakers but are more likely to be cursed as meddlers.

The members of the League of Nations were unable to rise above their narrow prejudices and suspicions. The same thing was almost the downfall of the federation that finally became the United States; its separate parts frequently lacked the vision to understand that they either would hang together or hang separately. Vishinsky and Bevin are making history they may shudder to read.

Pointless Distortion

Philip Murray and his lieutenants in C.I.O. have made a great to-do over the "carry-back" provisions of the excess profits tax law in an effort to befog the status of corporate finances, especially in the case of United States Steel.

Research experts of the C.I.O. are as well informed about the inception of the provision and of its operation as the tax accountants of any corporation.

They know the "carry-back" was discussed in Congress for days on end and that it was not "slipped through" as some C.I.O. statements have pretended.

Congress recognized the financial hazards of reconversion and plant rehabilitation from war work. The Treasury Department also recognized the hazards. Instead of a nontaxable reserve for corporations, as first proposed, the Treasury introduced the "carry-back."

The law provides, for two years, only, that plants paying excess profits taxes in 1944 and 1945 may make up some of their reconversion losses by balancing previously-paid taxes against their losses.

United States Steel, by reason of costs of operation, price limitation and contract renegotiation with the government, had no profits sufficient to go in the excess bracket. Consequently, the company cannot collect a cent in the refunding of any part of such tax.

What is true of United States Steel is true of many other big industries. The law, on the other hand, may be a life-saver for hundreds of small companies up against extraordinary expense in returning to normal peacetime production. To that extent Congress and the Treasury Department were farsighted enough to assure jobs for men who might otherwise have lost them.

Familiar Statements

Postwar American history is repeating itself, the January report of the Navy Industrial Association points out in its leading article. Popular revisionism from everything connected with war is as strong today as after the country's other major conflicts, the author of this article finds. And the discovery brings him no comfort.

So he makes some statements that are as familiar as the situation he attacks. They have been spoken to deaf ears by the Army and Navy in the years between wars. Press and public have discovered their truth in time of conflict and repeated them in chorus. But now the deafness seems to be returning.

Perhaps, then, it is well to read these familiar statements in the light of present circumstances. The Navy Industrial Association's writer has stated them well. They are, in part, as follows:

"Foreign powers have long been intense students of American history. They know that we are an outspoken, unregimented people, basically not interested in conquest or imperialism. They know that all we want, usually, is to be left to ourselves so that we can work on the problem of raising our high living standards higher.

"They know that once the shooting stops Americans regard a war as ended and that a reaction takes place against all things militaristic. They know that in years of peace we do not prepare for war because we do not want war, we do not even like to think about war. They know that a great number of Americans are going to be against military training and conscription simply because they regard war and killing as fundamentally wrong.

"They know that it is extremely easy to turn American public opinion against the military and naval systems, although Americans will always be sentimental about individual heroes.

"They know that American people have sunk more American ships than any enemy. In the wars of 1861-65 and in World Wars I and II, the United States did not get there 'first with the most.' We got there last—with the most.

"Science has set the tempo of a possible third World War and it is perfectly obvious that we cannot defend this nation by 'getting there last with the most'—we have to be there first, with the best."

The obvious flaw in all this, of course, is the failure to give any consideration to the United Nations Organization. But the omission does not necessarily imply an absence of faith, or a proposal of an armed and suspicious isolationism.

The thoughts quoted above are those of a special pleader for the retention of a nuclear naval armament, shipbuilding and aviation industry in peacetime. Such an industry is doomed to share the unpopularity of "all things militaristic" in peacetime America. Yet the unpopular profession and industries of military science are still vital to our safety.

The organizing of the United Nations for peace does not mean that unrest has ceased, that problems are solved, that we need never fear again. When the United Nations Organization has faced the first real threat to peace and emerged triumphant, when a sincere and unquestioned willingness to disarm is evident among all of the great powers—then and only then can we safely forget such statements as those quoted here.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, February 7.

A DUBIOUS day in which any inviting prospects should be grasped with diligence, industry, determination and practical common sense, since there are many adverse situations to compose and bring to satisfactory fruition. Finances, credit, business and professional pursuits have difficult factors to adjust. As well, family, social, domestic and affectional affiliations are also under unhappy or "afflicted" aspects.

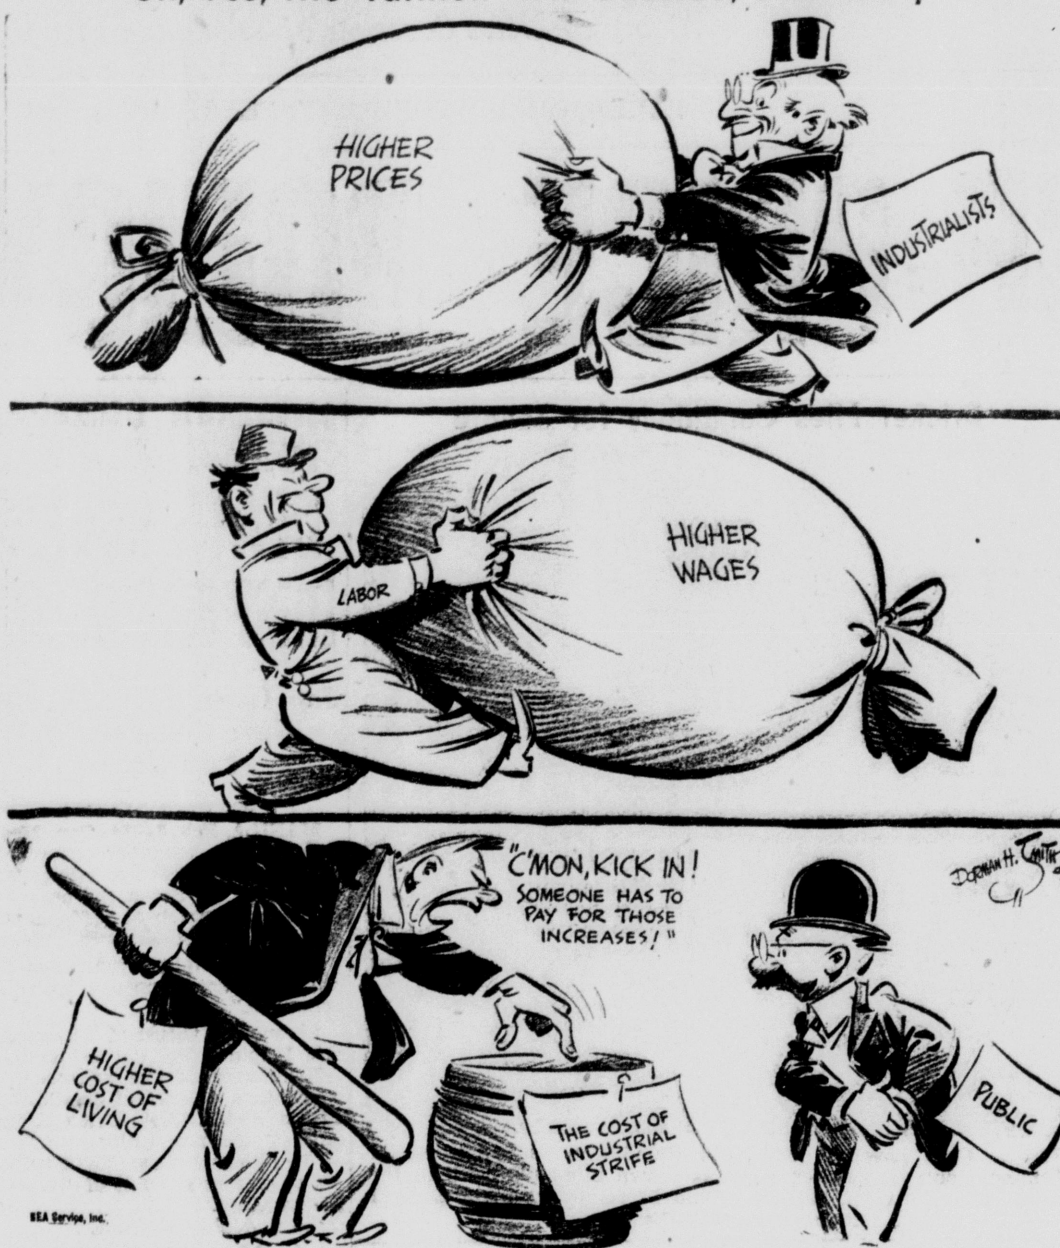

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be obliged to achieve its cherished objectives by dint of hard work, persistent efforts and well-organized and executed plans and techniques. Serious thought, sound ideas and cheerful and diligent tactics may avert loss, financially, in credit and standing, as well as in all personal, professional and social interests. With regard to duty and obligations, industry may make for stability and enduring success for the future.

A child born on this day may be industrious, diligent, of sound principle and purpose, which it will need to make a success against certain adverse conditions.

Most men are as lazy as they dare to be.—R. B. Corbett, secretary-treasurer American Farm Bureau Federation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PRICE CONTROL

Editor, The News:

Those of us who want our dollars to buy as much as they now do, should write at once to Senators Taft and Hoffman and Congressman Lewis. We should ask them to vote for the extension of price control one more year. Price control ends June 30 if not renewed.

By June, 1947, supply should catch up with demand. When control was lifted too soon in the case of citrus fruits, in spite of a bumper crop, the price of oranges increased 70 per cent over night in San Francisco. In 1920, after World War I, when prices were not held, the value of a dollar dropped to 40 cents.

There are 1,500 registered lobbyists in Washington, and most of them are pressing to remove price control. They argue that industry's costs are going up. We consumers believe industry can absorb increased costs in 1946 without reducing its earnings. O.P.A. has been granting price increases where costs proved too large to be absorbed. But when you consider the increased production in 1946, as forecast to W.P.B. by manufacturers themselves, and then take into consideration that business won't have to pay such high taxes and grant premiums for overtime labor, it looks as if industry should earn the greatest profits in its history in 1946. In the long run, increasing prices and inflation will not help business. Cost absorption and holding prices stable will prove the profitable thing for all of us. Ask your congressmen to hold the price line.

Sudden Pain In Abdomen

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SUDDEN attacks of pain in the abdomen present a problem to the physician, because these attacks of pain may come from such a variety of disorders. The doctor must use every diagnostic aid available in order to determine the exact cause of the disturbance so that proper treatment may be promptly administered. X-ray examination has been most helpful in aiding the physician in making a diagnosis in cases of attack of acute abdominal pain.

The pain may be produced by kidney stones or gallstones. Many such stones are visible in the X-ray plate. However, the mere fact that stones are not found in the X-ray plate does not mean that they are not present. Another cause of the acute attacks of pain is obstruction of the intestine, or blocking of the bowel.

Standing Position
An X-ray taken with the patient in a standing position will show fluid in the intestine when there is obstruction of the bowel, while the bowel itself will be swollen with gas. In cases of acute blocking of the bowel, the bowel will be found to be dilated or stretched, filled with gas and showing a level of fluid.

Not only will the X-ray show when such an obstruction is present but it will also give a good idea as to where the obstruction is so that operation can be more easily carried out to relieve the condition.

Another Condition
Another condition in which the X-ray is helpful in making a diagnosis is known as pyloric stenosis. This disorder occurs in infants. In it there is an enlargement of the muscle between the stomach and bowel, so that food cannot pass from the stomach into the intestine. X-ray will show the stomach to be distended.

An X-ray of the abdomen will also help to make a diagnosis of rupture of the stomach or bowel. In such cases gas will be found in the abdominal cavity. An X-ray plate is also taken in such case with the patient erect or lying on his side.

Painful Disorders
Other disorders causing pain in the abdomen, in which X-ray examination is helpful in making a diagnosis, are rupture of the kidney or the spleen, rupture or tearing of the diaphragm, which is the large muscle between the abdomen and chest, and abscess just under the diaphragm, or abscess around the kidney.

With care, the X-ray examination can be carried out without any great discomfort to the patient, and without causing any great delay in surgical operation when it is necessary. Persons should not delay in having treatment once a diagnosis is made but should take full advantage of the advances made by modern medical science.

Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man. ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. WARNS FARMERS OF FUTURE PLANNING

Ohioans Cautioned Against Building On Present Market Prices

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—Ohio farmers were warned today not to consider present market prices seriously in planning for the 1950's.

L. H. Barnes, Ohio State university farm management specialist, told a group in the 34th annual Farm and Home week.

"Anyone who builds a program for 15 or 20 years on the basis of present prices is inviting disaster," H. R. Moore, university rural economist, said at another meeting.

After the first flurry of the post war period farmers will be faced again with 1920 or 1942 conditions—the prices they have to pay for what they need will be higher than the prices they receive for what they raise."

2,000 Hear Talks

Nearly 2,000 farmers swarmed over the Ohio State university campus despite rain to hear talks on all phases of agriculture ranging from bee keeping to conservation and including clinics on farm wiring, care of machinery, labor saving devices, care of animals and poultry and the like.

Barnes, discussing how much a young man should pay for a farm, urged reserving at least 25 per cent of his money for equipment instead of making a high down payment and added:

"Very few young farmers can safely borrow more than $15 or $20 for every dollar they expect to be available annually for debt retirement."

He declared that too many young men were entering the field with over-optimism resulting from war-time prices plus good crop yields which he described as "purely temporary."

Cites Land Prices

Moore cited a study of farm land prices in eight sample counties and predicted that if present trends continued the peak would be reached late this year and early in 1947.

Immediately discernible post war developments, he said, "should prevent a sharp break in land prices. In 1945 to 1951 as developed in 1920 to 1925, a decline of 31 per cent."

On the other hand, he added, less demand for farm products and high farm operating costs will become increasingly important during the next five years.

Moore reported "some skepticism in both borrowers and lenders as to present land prices" and cautioned that agriculture was entering "a period of less favorable price relationships which will have a depressing effect during the 1950's."

"Agriculture still faces a problem of more production than the market can take," he said.

The open back robe is another of the many unique creations of Odette Barsa, designer of this collection. The filmy sheer robe, left, has a detachable apron peplum which can double as a breakfast cape over the white satin gown. The quilted fingertip brunch coat, center, is posed over a matching gown. The quilted coat is blue with a flower garland print. It is trimmed with lace. The drawstring gown, right, is made of blue sheer with a hand-painted motif of two love birds below the bateau neckline which is edged with point d'esprit. Matching net frills outline the wide rounded yoke of the peignoir coat.

Value of Newspaper In Daily Life Is Shown By Strike

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, Feb. 6.—Life was normal again in Cleveland today. Coffee and the morning newspaper were back on the breakfast table.

For the first time since Jan. 5, householders peered out into the murky dawn and found a paper on the front porch.

The AFL-pressmen's strike, which halted publication of the city's three dailies, demonstrated how low the average American was without news.

The desire for news kept Oliver C. Schroeder, proprietor of Schroeder's news store, in hot water. He was forced to sell New York papers on Monday instead of Sunday in order to carry on business.

"There were 25 people for every paper we had," he said. "I have been here 47 years and I've never seen anything like it."

Anyone who managed to obtain an out-of-town newspaper was an object of envy. He found people looking over his shoulder.

Thousands of people to whom the weather was most important flooded the U. S. Weather bureau with calls.

Funeral homes were deluged with calls from friends of the deceased.

wishing to know particulars of funerals.

Scores desperate for a place to live came to the paper's city rooms, asking to see proofs of for rent advertisements. The requests were denied on the ground that all readers should get the same break.

As the strike wore on, movie theaters set up telephone exchanges to provide information on their programs.

Newspaper staffs worked throughout the strike. Stories were written and sent through the news mill as far as the pressroom.

Price Ceilings On Old Houses Out

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 — The house banking committee has rejected 14 to 11, an administration proposal to put price ceilings on old houses.

The committee left in the bill by Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), a provision for price controls on new homes.

The new price ceilings were proposed by Wilson W. Wyatt, newly appointed housing administrator.

The Patman bill had stipulated that after a certain future date the first sale of an old house would be the ceiling price. During the housing emergency it could sell for no higher price except to cover costs of any improvements.

Members of the committee said 11 Republicans and three Democrats voted to strike out the section putting ceilings on old houses. Opposing them were 11 Democrats.

Patman gave newsmen a statement criticizing the Republicans for voting as a bloc against controls on old housing.

Clippers Defeat Fairfield After Scare In First Frame

Lacking the usual height advantage given them by Don Esenwein, the Columbiana Clippers suffered somewhat of a scare at home last night as the Fairfield Comets paced them the first quarter, but finally fell behind to lose, 77-43, as the Clippers claimed their 11th win in 12 games this year.

Esenwein, who is ill, was rather obviously missed in the first eight minutes of play, as Fairfield led the Columbiana combine by eight points at one time. They were still ahead, 12-10, when the period closed. Clippertown's power began to show, however, in the second frame when the whirlwind attack sailed away with 23 Columbiana points to just five for Fairfield.

With Carl Sheets, accurate but comparatively short, filling Esenwein's forward spot part of the time and a reliable sub, Rich Reinher, doing the balance of the job, the Clippers again proved their uncanny ability to hit the hoop.

By halftime they led, 33-17, but the tempo increased in the third and Clippertown's side of the score-board rolled around for 28 more points. Coach Atley Freshley's five netted 11 during the third.

Utilizing a full bench of reserve power last night, Coach John Canas inserted a squad of 12 into the game during the four quarters.

In the fourth, when substitutes saw action most, the Clippers tallied 16 points to 15 for Fairfield.

Leading the terrific, though late, Clipper attack was Bill Newell with a 17-point total. Center Bob Hum, improving every time out, racked up 16 and capped a majority of the rebounds.

One of the district's slickest forwards, Lee Thomas, pushed through 14 points, all on field goals to rank third in scoring. Reinher notched 1 and Sheets seven. Rich Berryman counted for five.

The Clippers put through 11 of 19 foul tries, Fairfield missing 12 of 26 attempts.

Columbiana clashes with Louisville on the Raiders' floor Friday evening in a Tri-County fray.

The Little Clippers posted a 51-18 victory over Fairfield's reserves in last night's preliminary.

Quakers Score Easy Win Over Girard

"Mo" Hollinger Sparkplug Of Locals' Attack; Pager Halted By Indian Defense

Erasing an early five-point deficit and flashing a consistent, but not spectacular, brand of play, Coach Bob Miller's Salem High Quakers took the measure of Girard last night on the Indians' court, 41-24, for their second straight win and their sixth in 14 games.

After a slow first period which saw Girard take a 6-1 lead at one point, the locals snapped out of their lethargy to tie up the game at 8-8 as the first period ended when Tony Martinelli dumped in a neat shot from the foul line.

Capt. "Mo" Hollinger was the big gun in the Quaker victory last night as he tallied five times from the field and cashed in on three of five free throws for a 13 point total. Three of his two-pointers came in the finale when the Quakers exhibited their best scoring efforts of the game.

The Redskin defense was concentrated on lanky Bob Pager, who was held to four points, but Hollinger, Martinelli and Johnny Pridon took up the slack in the locals' attack to make possible win No. 6.

Girard went ahead, 9-8, on Walt Aho's free toss as the second period opened but Pager came back with two straight buckets to send the Millermen in the lead, never to be headed. The Salemites held a 17-11 advantage at intermission.

The Quaker defense continued to function in the approved manner in the third frame and the home team was able to count only four markers while Salem counted nine.

With Hollinger setting a fast pace, the Salem quintet opened up in the final period to notch 15 points while holding Girard to nine and the game was history.

Although failing to exhibit the form which has carried them to upset wins over Youngstown Rayen and East Liverpool in recent frays, the Quakers had enough to whip the Indians and make it look effortless.

The Millermen connected on a high percentage of their shots from the field last night but faltered at the foul stripe, making good on only seven of 18 charity leaves. Girard converted six of 10 free throws awarded them.

Boasting their longest winning streak since the opening two tilts of the 1945-46 campaign, the Quakers will seek to notch their third straight when they journey to Canton Friday to do battle with the rugged Lincoln High Lions, holders of one of the best cage records in the district.

The Quaker reserves will face the Lincoln subs in a prelim.

Girard Subs 36-31 Winners Over Salem

A belated last quarter spree which netted 14 points in four minutes of play wasn't enough to wipe out a large Girard lead last night and the Salem High reserves squad went down to 36-31 defeat at the hands of the Redskins subs in the preliminary to the Salem-Girard fray.

After playing on even terms with their foes for three quarters, the locals saw their hopes for victory blasted when the home team unleashed a barrage of points in the opening minutes of the final period to go ahead 30-19 with four minutes left to play.

Pete Cain, Carl Ciocozzi and Virg Kelly sparked a last minute drive which fell short by five points. Cain took scoring honors with 10 markers while Beach was practically the entire Girard attack as he came through with 17 points.

FROSH SEEK NO. 7 AT EAST LIVERPOOL

Victors in six straight contests thus far this season, the Salem High freshman quintet will trek to East Liverpool tomorrow afternoon to do battle with the Potter yearlings.

Coach Frank Tarr has indicated that he will start the lineup which has brought him six consecutive wins with the exception of "Biggie" Faulkner, dusky scoring ace, who has been declared ineligible for the game.

Tommy Minor, Eddie Bosich, Dick Tolson and Walt Ehrhart are definite starters but a replacement for Faulkner has not yet been decided upon.

In a second game this week, the Frosh will tackle the Broadway Junior High of Alliance. This game is part of a triple-bill slated at the High school gym Friday evening.

Oilers Upset Ohio Grill, Goodrich Clips West Side In Class "A" Competition

The tie for first place in the Class A cage standings remained unbroken as Sinclair and Goodrich raked up their third win each last night at the Memorial building.

Goodrich came through as expected against the West Side with big Bob Jeffries contributing 23 points in the 58-38 drubbing.

The West Siders were at a loss as to how Jeffries should be handled. The rangy Goodrich pivotman, besides walking off with high point honors, grabbed a lion's share of the rebounds.

Goodrich took a 16-2 lead in the opening period and were never in danger after that although the West Siders turned in a hot second half.

Kenny Shears and Gordy Scullion each added 11 points to the Goodrich cause while Wayne Hahn tallied 17 points to pace the losers.

Oilers earned their right to the first place deadlock by dumping a favored Ohio Grill quintet, 38-26.

The Oilers jumped off to a 16-1 lead in the opening minutes of the fray as Ray "Goose" McGaffick and Bill Theiss hit the hoop from all angles.

After leading by 20-4 midway through the second quarter, the Oilers' blazing attack died out but the damage had already been done. The Grills were totally unable to erase the margin.

McGaffick was the key performer in the Oilers victory, scoring 12 points while Theiss added seven and turned in a superb game under the hoop.

Don Freed, recently discharged from the army, and Bob "Dogie" Scullion poured seven points apiece through the rims to spark the Grills. Scullion also played a neat rebounding game as Les Knepp, Griller center, found himself in the throes of a "bad" game.

City Cab moved into third place in the standings with a 28-20 triumph over Greenford as Ed Zilavy turned in his best performance to date.

Grabbing a 12-2 margin in the first frame, the Cabs battled their rivals on fairly even terms throughout the last three periods to chalk up their second win against a single defeat. The loss was the second of the round for the visiting five.

Zilavy flipped in 10 tallies to spark the Cabbies while Feicht was high man for Greenford with 11.

The Zone Cab quintet jumped off to a slender lead in their game against the American Legion but could not hold the pace, bowling 37-30.

The Legion attack, stalled in the first two quarters, finally came to life in the last half and the Vets doubled their foes' efforts, outscoring them, 26-13.

Del Shaffer came through with his usual dependable game as he paced the Legion with 10 markers. "Whitey" Kaercher, Phil Cozad and Bill Guapone also were highly instrumental in the Legion win. Don Rice dumped in seven points for the Zone aggregation.

LOU BOUDREAU ON THIRD CHANGE IN TRIBE'S LINEUP

Shift May Be Necessitated By Old Basketball Injury

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Basketball play is as harmful to a baseball player as football shoulders.

For years baseball scouts have warned prospects not to play football, and basketball is quickly working itself into the same category.

Constant pounding on hardwood breaks down arches. Few play basketball for any length of time without suffering broken bones in their feet.

Lou Boudreau's trouble accentuates the drive against basketball.

Manager Worried

The biggest question mark on the Cleveland team, one which may decide whether the Tribe fights for the flag or lands in the second flight, is its manager and brilliant young shortstop. The Indians dropped out of contention late last season when Boudreau went out with an injured ankle.

Cleveland hears that Boudreau may not be able to carry on at shortstop. He is still taking diaphanous treatments at his Harvey, Ill. home, and it is reported that his ankles are weaker than ever. It is feared he will be slowed up in the event he attempts to open the season at shortstop. If he can't stand the gaff at short, there is a distinct possibility he may shift to third.

Boudreau spends a half hour bandaging his feet before every game he plays.

Lou Boudreau was a superlative basketball player at Illinois, but wouldn't have been had he known the future baseball held in store for him.

Pact Gives Soviets Strategic Isles

Secretary of State James F.
